Dear Colonel Hannah,

This is an attempt to inform you infernally of what has happened to 1st FAG since leaving 29 Palms.

Before getting into details, I must say that the 1st FAG was probably one of the best prepared units to go into Viet Nam. We were lacking to some degree in experience, but this was overshadowed by material readiness and morale. It is with a great deal of remorse that I must relate the following fate of 1st FAG.

The loading was done in an efficient manner and after replacing two of the three trucks that broke down on our trip to San Diego we were in good shape. The third truck was the metro van and, of course, there were no replacements at 29 Palms. So when we arrived in Hawaii, I purchased an engine and some canvas to replace some that was torn by the wind on the trip to San Diego and by Navy in loading. Two days after departing Pearl, the engine was properly installed and the canvas was put on.

The fate of the 1st FAG was settled long before I arrived in Pearl. It seems as though General Walt wanted it as a base defense force for Da Nang. However, since the Navy was pushing for the establishment of the 9th MAB and assets were stretched a long way the General decided to use FAG assets to build the 9th MAB. Realizing the battle was lost, I set about trying to maintain a cadre of FAG so it could be reestablished at a later date. Of particular concern to me were the supply records, RPS, Comtacs, S & C and the metro section. I made a strong bid to deploy the metro section, and to maintain a cadre to maintain the records. When I departed Pearl there was serious doubt as to whether a cadre would be maintained. The only person receptive to the idea was Colonel Dickenson in the G-3 Section. As a last resort I made a plea to maintain enough capability to properly document the disestablishment or reduction. About 3 days before arriving in Viet Nam I received a message to transfer the metro section personnel to the 3rd Division, but no mention was made of the equipment. In addition all of communication personnel were to be transferred immediately upon arrival at Okinawa. Included in these personnel was the entire section maintaining and acting as custodians of the RPS, Comtacs, and S & C. As you know I have more RPS than Force Troops and I had to have some relief. So an inquiry was addressed to FMFPAC and a request to retain Captain James as alternate custodian of the RPS. I received permission to retain Captain James but received no word on metro gear.

At Col. A. B. Wand's file, "State of 1st FAG"

ENCLOSURE (1)

We unloaded at Chu Lai first and everything went smoothly, except it was difficult to convince everyone of the sheer quantity of ammo and bulk that I had.

Upon arriving at Da Nang the same reluctance greeted us as to sheer quantity. I might point out that I had taken the trouble to communicate to III MAF/NCC total cube, square, weight, of each class of supplies on board. I even quoted total pallets to show the amount of gear coming ashore at each place. Even so, 30 days supply of ammo is a lot of ammo.

I sent a radio in on the first boat to go in. No one met us at either place to give any instructions. Major McDaniels had to hitch a ride about 4 miles to 3rd Bn 12th CP to get instructions. At Da Nang the S-4 12th MAR showed up shortly and I talked with him via the radio that I had sent in using the ship's frequency. Their first question was, "where is the metre gear"? It seems that they were down to less than 3 days operating stock and wanted all the gear. I told them I had no authority to unload it. So a flurry of phone calls were made to PAC and I was told I would receive some kind of word as to disposition. I worked all night separating metre gear from rest of Headquarters Battery gear under the assumption that the word be affirmative. I waited to the last possible moment and having received no word from PAC I decided to unload it any way. The need for it was so great that I believed that I could justify my actions. So, three trucks with trailers were unloaded along with 17 pallets of operating stock.

My conversation with Colonel Calender confirmed the fact that he absolutely did not believe there was any place in Viet Nam for a Headquarter Battery FAG. Lieutenant Colonel Fritch, XO, felt the same way, as did the S-3 and FSCC Officer. They were all interested in the assets but not any control.

The 12th MAR has a shortage of 65 company grade officers and I can understand Colonel Calender's plight and his desire for personnel and equipment. He stated priority O2 requisition took at least 90 days to fill and often much longer. So justifiably he wanted no FAG as such-only assets.

For a battery to control 3 or 4 batteries, it is necessary to pull officers and NCO's to establish the control headquarters. This compounded the shortages. What no one seemed to realize was that FAG is structured for the purpose of controlling up to 7 batteries or 7 battalions. We would have fitted in perfectly.

Most forward observers teams are headed by NCO's. Out of 12 organic teams in 3/11 only 3 were headed by Lieutenants. Then, too, it was necessary to create 3 additional teams for the mortar battery. One of these was headed by the battalian intelligence chief. So the need is there. We departed Da Nang on 5 March and two days later I received authority to unload the metre gear at Da Nang.

Upon arriving in Okinawa, it seemed that every person on the island was waiting for the FAG. They all wanted personnel and gear. I was besieged from every angle to release people and equipment. I had not received any word from FMFPAC on a cadre, or on the RPS, Contac, and S & C.

My first step was at General Fields office and when I explained my flight, thank goodness, he was receptive. So in order to properly document whatever was in store I held on to people that had orders from FMFPAC to be transferred. I just didn't transfer them. If I had I couldn't have unloaded my trucks. In fact, I arrived on Tuesday about 0900, finished unloading and getting the gear off the beach at 0500 the next morning. All of the officers and men had orders to report to their new organizations by Thursday. A complete wipe out in less than two days.

FMFPAC came through the next day directing a cadre and CNO the next day on the RPS. PSR assumed ad cen and ep cen. Thank goodness they seemed to know what they were doing. All GI I, III, IV, and V was turned in. All operating stocks were turned in. All consumables that 9th MAB didn't want were turned in. I proposed 1 officer and 12 men to act as a cadre. All GI II Type I items not needed by MAB would be retained. All items turned in were properly documented and will be put on slit documents and requisitions made so when CMC directs reestablishment it can be done simply by dropping the cards in the hopper. This should be far enough along by the 16th to make the transfer. At that time all the transfers will be made. I'm slated as assistant G-3, Major Crosby as Headquarters Company Commanding Officer. All other officers and most of the NCO's will move into like billets. The communication personnel were transferred to Camp Butler, except one or two to 1st MAR DIV, one or two to SLF. The medical people ^{w/} 1st MAR DIV, just as their orders read. This is a definite weakness. If I had gone in country all the medical people would have left me and joined the 1st MAR DIV. I had a long talk with Cmdr Henry 1st MAR DIV. He stated that BUPERS really doesn't have the picture yet! I would have been without medical people. This needs to be looked into.

I'm proud of this Group. We were ready to go and they didn't want us. This group was probably one of the finest group of fighting men assembled in recent years. I'm sure you will hear from many of them later on. One of the hardest jobs has been to explain why we weren't going "in Country". Of the more than 50 men who signed waivers on their overseas control dates 20 belong to Headquarters Battery.

Just to show what can be done, when Colonel Lamb arrived here, his orders were cancelled, even though he was supposed to go to Viet Nam and even though Colonel Dickens had told him to be sure he wasn't short stopped here. It was just a simple matter of your orders are cancelled, here is a job-go to work. Later on FMFPAC affirmed the cancellation. He did, however, talk his way into Viet Nam for one day and this did help. But he was not present to meet us and Captain Kelly might as well have stayed home. In addition Lieutenant Olsen orders were terminated when he arrived. Then when we arrived they terminated the termination so that the unit diary entries would be correct.

2. Commanding Officer's Narrative Summary of Significant Events.

a. On 16 October 1966 the Headquarters Battery, 1st Field Artillery Group, 3rd Force Service Regiment then in cadre consisting of one officer and 14 enlisted USMC was redesignated as the 1st Field Artillery Group, 9th Marine Amphibious Brigade and moved from Camp Hauge Okinawa to Camp Hansen, Okinawa. The cadre was commanded by 1stLt W.G. EVANS, USMC. During the remainder of October the unit began requesting and receiving equipment and supplies. Personnel began arriving and on 28 October 1966, LtCol J.M. LANEY, JR., joined the unit and assumed command of the 1st Field Artillery Group. By 30 October 1966 the unit strength had risen to 16 officers and 90 enlisted USMC and 1 enlisted USN.

b. During the month of November the unit began preparations for embarkation and continued training of personnel in anticipation of subsequent movement to South Vietnam. Personnel and equipment shortages were gradually filled during the month and by 30 November 1966 the unit had a combat readiness status of C-2 personnel, C-3 equipment, C-2 training and C-3 supply. The emphasis for training was placed upon combat training for the individual Marine including crew served weapons familiarization firing, patrolling, jungle warfare training, mine warfare, booby traps and section training. The Metro Section attended a concentrated three day school on the operation of the electronic metro set which was presented by the 1st Missile Battalion, 57th Artillery, USA. The unit's electronic metro set had not yet been received. A field exercise was conducted on 15-16 November 1966. On 21 November the unit began staging supplies at the port of embarkation, Naha, Okinawa. By 23 November all personnel were embarked aboard the USS Terrell County (LST 1177) at Naha, Okinawa and the majority of equipment and supplies were loaded. On 24 November 1966 the unit departed Okinawa enroute to South Vietnam. This deployment was part of a programmed build up of Marine Corps forces in Vietnam. The unit arrived off the coast of Vietnam on 29 November, and disembarked at Chu Lai, South Vietnam on 30 November 1966. Upon arrival, the 1st Field Artillery Group reported OPCON to Commanding General III MAF, ADCON 1st Marine Division (Rein). OPCON was further passed to the 1st Marine Division and then to Task Force 31. ADCON was concurrently passed to the 11th Marines.

GROUP ORDER 1540.1

From: Commanding Officer
 To: Distribution List

Subj: Training Program

1. Purpose. To provide this unit with a training program designed to prepare the individual and the unit for immediate deployment and combat.

2. Scope. This order provides guidance for a four week training program. Details of training will be promulgated by weekly training schedules.

3. Policy. The conduct of training will be in accordance with policies outlined in this order.

a. General. All training will be oriented toward the type of operations being used by Marine Corps forces in Vietnam and to support the mission of this unit. Fifty percent of all field training will be conducted during the hours of darkness. This training will include the following:

(1) Counterinsurgency Operations. To be effective, counterinsurgency operations must include an understanding of the limitations placed upon military operations by the local populace. All marines must be thoroughly familiar with the political, economic, civil and psychological aspects of Vietnam.

(2) Counterguerrilla Operations. These operations are military actions of the armed forces of an established government and its allies against guerrilla forces. Training is required in the tactics and techniques employed by artillery in support of counterguerrilla operations.

(3) Anti-guerrilla Operations. These operations are concerned with protection of command posts against guerrilla forces. Training is required to insure that personnel are thoroughly trained in scouting and patrolling, local security, camouflage, blackout discipline, mines and booby traps and march security.

1 Nov 1966

(4) Civic Action Operations. Civic action is the program being used by marine units to gain the support and confidence of the local population of Vietnam. Included in this program is the improvement of health, education and welfare of the Vietnamese people. In return, we receive vital information concerning location, size, organization, etc., of the Viet Cong. This program is producing excellent results and all personnel will receive instruction on the civic action program.

(5) Ambush and Counter-ambush. Ambush is one of the most effective offensive tactic employed by guerrilla forces. Concurrent training on ambush and counter-ambush will be conducted.

(6) "Tactical Trends and Training Tips". These pamphlets are published under FMFPac Bulletin 1500 and contain information on lessons learned by marine units in combat in the Republic of Vietnam. These bulletins will be given widest possible dissemination both during regularly scheduled training and, as time permits, on field exercises.

4. Training Program. The training program will be progressive. The program will insure the highest level of knowledge and proficiency of the individual and sections, and a high level of combat readiness of the unit.

a. Each individual will fire his weapon for familiarization and to obtain his combat sight setting.

b. Each individual will be instructed in basic infantry tactics to include ambush, counter-ambush, scouting and patrolling. Emphasis will be placed on defense of position areas.

c. Classes will be conducted on use of U. S. mines and booby traps as well as the enemy use of mines and booby traps as experienced in Vietnam.

d. Instruction will be given on crew served weapons and all individuals will fire crew served weapons for familiarization.

e. Instruction will be given, lectures and practical application, on field fortifications including wire obstacles.

f. Section training will be conducted following the syllabus given in paragraph 3404 of FMFM 7-4.

GruO 1540.1
1 Nov 1966

g. All personnel will be instructed in preventive measures against diseases and poisonous flora and fauna prevalent in Southeast Asia. Emphasis will be placed on field sanitation, personal hygiene, and proper care of the feet in a hot, humid climate.

h. Unit training will be conducted in the field to include a CPX and field exercise. The field exercise will place emphasis on local security, day and night displacement, and use of aggressors.

5. Safety. Safety will be stressed at all times both in field training and garrison. Particular emphasis will be placed on motor vehicle operator safety and precautions applicable to individual and crew served weapons.

a. General. Battery Commanders will insure that personnel are properly trained and/or licensed before being allowed to handle explosives or drive any vehicle.

b. Officer in Charge of Firing. The officer in charge of firing for any exercise will insure that all provisions of Camp Butler Order P5100.6G (Range Regulations) are complied with. The Officer in charge of firing will appoint a range safety officer who will be familiar with, and carry out his duties as stated in Camp Butler Order P5100.6G.

6. Schools

a. Officer and Staff NCO Schools. A minimum of one hour of officer and staff NCO school will be conducted per week.

b. NCO School. NCO school will be conducted at the battery level for a minimum of two hours per week.

7. Reports

a. Training Inspection Report. The Group S-3 will select classes to be monitored on the weekly training schedule and keep the Group Commander informed on progress of training.

b. Individual Training Records. Headquarters Battery Commander will maintain individual training records on all training accomplished, to include general military subjects, specialist training, MOS training, rifle/pistol qualification scores, swimming qualification, and gas mask size. These records will be kept current on a weekly basis.

2. Commander's Narrative Summary of Significant Events.

a. The Headquarters First Field Artillery Group (1stFAG) arrived at Chu Lai on 30 November 1966 aboard the USS Terrell County (LST 1157) from Okinawa. On 1 December 1966 the 1st Field Artillery Group relieved the 11th Marines (rear) in place and assumed tactical control of all of the US artillery units in the Chu Lai combat base. The 1st Field Artillery Group was placed under CFCOM of Task Force XRay and ADCOM of the 11th Marines, 1st Marine Division.

b. During the month the major artillery effort continued to be directed at providing supporting fires for the defense of the Chu Lai TACR and support of infantry operations in and around the TACR. In addition supporting fires were provided for the 3rd Reconnaissance Battalion elements inserted in Viet Cong controlled territory, CIDG/Special Forces Camps, Government of Viet Nam Armed Forces Units (GVNAF), and units of the Republic of South Korea (ROKMC). Three search and destroy operations were conducted by the 5th and 7th Marines supported by units of the First Field Artillery Group, 11th Marines.

c. Operation Sutter was a coordinated search and destroy operation conducted during the period 1-6 December 1966. 2nd Battalion, 11th Marines reinforced by fires from Battery "L", 4th Battalion, 11th Marines and the 1st Platoon, 3rd 155mm Gun Battery provided support for the operation from primary position areas within the TACR. By mutual agreement a small liaison group from the 7th Marine Regiment was co-located in the field with the 6th ARVN Regiment CP for Phase II of the operation. Its purpose was to effect the liaison and fire support coordination necessary between the two forces operating in contiguous areas, thereby relieving the committed USMC Battalion Commander of such responsibility.

d. Operation Sierra was begun 12 December 1966, and has continued through the end of the reporting period. This is a search and destroy operation conducted by the 7th Marines in the Quang Ngai Province Mo Duc area in conjunction with the 2nd ARVN Division Forces. During the first three phases of the operation the 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines was in direct support and furnished a Battalion Command Group to control the fires of artillery supporting the operation. The 3rd Battalion artillery elements were Task Organized to support Operation Sierra in the following manner.

Command Group, 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines

Battery "H" (-) (4-105mm How) 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines

107mm Mortar Platoon (2-107mm Howtar) 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines

Provisional Battery (4-155mm How TD) 4th Battalion, 11th Marines

Platoon, Battery "A", 2nd Battalion, 94th Field Artillery, 1st Field Artillery Group

Battery "H" (-) was helilifted to the CIDG/Special Forces Camp at Minh Long (BS53435157) to support the early phases of the operation and again later to Mo Duc (BS72185384) where it was joined by the platoon of 107mm Howtars. Upon completion of the initial phases of the operation the 3rd Battalion Command Group released the Provisional 155mm Howitzer Battery from its OPCON, gave control of the artillery support to Battery "H" (-) and returned to the Chu Lai TAOR. The Platoon, Battery "A", 2nd Battalion, 94th Field Artillery which had displaced to an alternate position (BS636753) was also returned to control of its parent unit. Battery "H" (-) (Rein), 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines remained in direct support of 7th Marine elements as of 31 December 1966.

e. Operation Cortez a 5th Marine search and destroy operation conducted during 7-12 December 1966 which was supported from within the TAOR by 2nd Battalion, 11th Marines and Battery "L", 4th Battalion, 11th Marines.

f. The requirement to position and maintain Battery "F" (-), 2nd Battalion, 11th Marines at Tien Phuoc (BT106142), and the Provisional 155mm Howitzer Battery (4-155mm How TD) at Quang Ngai (BS60757027) as well as observation posts at An Hoa (BS574863) and Nui Tron (BS515780) continued through the reporting period.

g. Battery "E", 2nd Battalion, 11th Marines under OPCON of the 11th Marines since 110600H December 1966 is now located in the vicinity of An Hoa (AT875472). ADCON remains with 2nd Battalion, 11th Marines, 1st Field Artillery Group.

c. Intelligence. Upon arrival at Chu Lai and commencement of operation, the intelligence office immediately established contact with the G-2 Section, Task Force Xray, and with the S-2 Sections of the 2nd Battalion, 11th Marines, 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines and the 4th Battalion, 11th Marines. Contacts were later established with the S-2 Sections of the 5th Marines and 7th Marines, and with 7th C.I.T. and 9th I.T.T.. Contact was also established with the Chu Lai Defense Command, and range cards were completed for CIDG Watch Towers #51 and #73. The bulk of intelligence processed by the 1st Field Artillery Group S-2 Section was obtained from the November 24 OP at Nui Tron. Highlights of the intelligence processed during the month are shown in the S-2 Journal Extracts in enclosure (1) through (6).

d. Training. Due to the recent arrival of this Headquarters in Vietnam, all training for the month has been directed at the individual to further his knowledge as a combat Marine.

e. Special Operations. Units of the First Field Artillery Group, 11th Marines participated in four operations during the month. These were:

(1) Operation Sutter, a coordinated search and destroy operation conducted by the 5th Marines in conjunction with elements of the 6th Regiment, 2nd ARVN Division during 1-2 December 1966. 2nd Battalion, 11th Marines, reinforced by fires from Battery "L", 4th Battalion, 11th Marines and the 1st Platoon, 3rd 155 Gun Battery Supported the operation from position within the TACR. On 3 December 1966, Battery "L", 4th Battalion, 11th Marines was placed in direct support of the 5th Marines and continued to provide support from its primary position through 6 December 1966, when the operation was terminated.

(2) Operation Quang Tin #122, was a search and destroy operation conducted by the 2nd ARVN Division in Quang Ngai Province vicinity of Mo Duc. On 1 December 1966, the First Provisional 155 Howitzer Battery (TD) displaced from its primary position area to coordinates (BS67616834) from where it provided fires in general support of the operation through 2 December 1966 when it terminated.

(3) Operation Sierra, is a several phased combined search and destroy operation conducted by the 7th Marines in conjunction with the 2nd ARVN Division which began on 12 December 1966, and is still underway. The 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines was in direct support of the initial phases of the operation during the period 12-19 December 1966, providing a Battalion Command Group to control the fires of Battery "H", 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines and the First Provisional 155 Howitzer Battery (TD) which was placed under OPCCM of the 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines during that period. The First Provisional 155mm Howitzer Battery (TD) displaced from its primary position on 12 December 1966 to an alternate position area coordinates (BS617640) from where it supported the operation until 19 December 1966. Battery "H" (-) was helo-borne to Minh Long coordinates (BS53435137) on 12 December 1966 from where it supported the operation through the morning of 19 December 1966. It was then further lifted to Mo Duc coordinates (BS72185384) at which location it was joined by a 2 M107mm Howtar Platoon of Mortar Battery, 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines. The Howtar platoon motor marched from its primary position within the TACR. On 19 December 1966 the 3rd Battalion Command Group and the First Provisional 155mm Howitzer Battery secured from Operation Sierra and returned to their primary position areas within the TFX TACR. Battery "H" (-) (Rein), 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines remained in direct support of the 7th Marine elements at Mo Duc until 23 December 1966 when it displaced 2 of its 105mm Howitzers and 1 107mm Howtar by helicopter to a position at Duc Tho coordinates (BS81203867). Battery "H" (-) (Rein) continued to support Operation Sierra from its position at Mo Duc and Duc Tho through the end of the reporting period. A platoon of Battery "A", 2nd Battalion, 94th Field Artillery was placed in general support of the 7th Marines, for Operation Sierra and was displaced to an alternate position coordinates (BS636753). It remained in general support until 13 December 1966 when it was further returned to its parent unit at coordinates (BS63018524) and assumed its primary mission. Complete details will be submitted by After Action Report upon termination of Operation Sierra.

(4) Operation Cortez. This was a 5th Marines search and destroy operation which was supported by Battery "F" 2/11 at Tien Phuoc coordinates (BT106142) and Battery "L" 4/11 from its primary position area. The operation took place during the period 7-12 December 1966.

f. Command and Control. The location of Command Posts and battery position areas are shown on the overlays attached on Tab (6) Appendix (B). For 1st Field Artillery Groups Organization for Combat on 31 December 1966, see Tab (5), Appendix (B).

g. Close Combat. During the period 1-31 December 1966, the Viet Cong continued their attempts to harrass, penetrate and destroy artillery positions and equipment as manifested by a series of probes and attacks by the Viet Cong against batteries and separate firing batteries comprising this organization. For further details relative to these attacks see enclosures (1) through (6).

h. Logistics. Normal logistic support continued for the Provisional 155 Howitzer (TD) Battery, 4th Battalion, 11th Marines at Quang Ngai (BS608721), and Battery "F" (-), 2nd Battalion, 11th Marines at Tien Phuoc (BT106142). In order to support Operation Sierra, 500 rounds of 105mm ammunition was diverted from Tien Phuoc to Minh Long (BS534513) for Battery "H" (-), 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines. Upon displacement of Battery "H" (-) (Rein), 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines from Minh Long to Mo Duc and Duc Pho, the ammunition resupply was accomplished by staging Class V at the Provisional 155 Howitzer (TD) position at Quang Ngai and airlifting it from there to the positions at Mo Duc and Duc Pho. Under the present R&E program the following weapons were received. Two M109, 155mm Howitzers (SP) by the 4th Battalion, 11th Marines, and one M55 8" Howitzer (SF) by the 3rd 8" Howitzer Battery, 11th Marines. One M53, 155mm Gun (SP) under this program still remains at FLSG-B for repairs and final inspection.

i. Aerial Observation. During the month of December 1966, the Aerial Observer Section, 1st Field Artillery Group, flew 33 missions for a total of 63.1 hours in support of Task Force XRay (Chu Lai) TACR/RACR, Operations Sierra, Sutter and Cortez, and reconnaissance team inserts. Aircraft support was provided by Headquarters and Maintenance Squadron 16 (O-1C Detachment) based at Da Nang and Marine Observation Squadron Six based at Chu Lai. The following is a recapitulation of missions flown.

J. Civil Affairs/Civic Action. To initiate the 1st Field Artillery Group civic action, the Civic Action Officer attended the Civic Action Conference at Task Force KRay on 29 December 1966. MEDCAF supplies were not available upon arrival of 1st Field Artillery Group at Chu Lai; however, the Executive Officer of Headquarters Battery became acquainted with the Hamlet Chief in Long Phu (2) earlier in the month so that liaison would be established by the time MEDCAF supplies became available. With the information supplied at the Task Force KRay conference, the 1st Field Artillery Group is now prepared to conduct a civic action program in its assigned area, which includes Long Phu (1) at coordinates (BT510040), and Long Phu (2) at coordinates (BT510030).
