S-4 MATTERS

ENCLOSURE (6)
CONFIDENTIAL

1. Logistics

a. Supply. For the month of July 1462 requisitions were submitted and 530 were filled making the percentage of filled to submitted requisitions 36%. However the total number of outstanding documents remaining is 4873 which makes an overall percentage of filled to submitted requisitions of only 11%. The percentage of repair parts filled was approximately 60%, but this Battalion is still critically low on high usage items due to the large number of vehicles we are supporting. Spare parts for the M109 SP are coming in very slowly, but the situation looks better than at anytime in the past. This Battalion currently has outstanding 101 priority 02 and 632 priority 05 requisitions.

b. Maintenance. Overall maintenance is satisfactory. Motor transport deadline is presently 12%. Spare parts for the M109 SP remain a problem. Of the 46 major ordnance pieces in the Battalion, only 2 155 Howitzer towed is deadlined for 3d echelon repair.

c. Food Services. Due to the fact that the majority of the Battalion has been in the field on Operation Hastings only 45% of the total meals served were "A" rations.

d. N/A

e. N/A

f. N/A

g. Water. This command obtains potable water from 8th RRU and FLSU #2 water point.

h. Motor Transport. All M422's have been replaced by A1's. The warm dry weather and the state of the roads continues to cause a problem with vehicle maintenance.

i. Embarkation. Embarkation data for each battery is compiled and held on the battalion level. Encampment garrison is included in the present data.

j. Hospitalization and Evacuation

(1) There were 642 treatments of military personnel rendered by the Battalion aid Station during the month of July, and 33 patients were referred to "A" Company, 3d Medical Battalion. 19 members of this battalion were admitted to the hospital during this period.

(2) During the reporting period there were 3 KIA's: Donald G. DAVENPORT, GySgt 1138506 USMC, "H" Btry, 3d Bn, 12th Mar. Shot by sniper while approaching Phu Bai Airport on a KC 130 USMC aircraft on 23 July 1966. Gene S. McMULLEN, 2dLt 092189 USMCR,

"H" Btry, 3d Bn, 12th Mar of multiple gunshot wounds received on Operation Hastings on 16 July 66. Ernest D. MITCHELL, Pfc 2168571 USMC, "M" Btry, 4th Bn, 12th Mar, of shrapnel wounds received from premature burst of 155 HE round on 20 July 1966.

(3) During the reporting period there were 11 WIA's: Patrick H. BENT, Cpl 1973549 USMC, "M" Btry, 4th Bn, 12th Mar, of shrapnel wound, left leg, from premature 155 Howitzer burst on 20 July 1966. WILSON, 2dLt 092255 USMCR, "I" Btry, 3d Bn, 12th Mar of shrapnel wounds in chest and legs on 18 July 66.

COMMUNICATIONS - ELECTRONICS MATTERS

1. Work Scheduled. 1 - 31 July 1966.
 - a. Relocation of operational comm and crypto.
 - b. Relocation of storage space.
 - c. Completion of operational comm bunker.
 - d. Re-distribution of communications personnel.
 - e. Erection of permanent antenna system.
2. Work Accomplished. Relocation of comm and crypto spaces was delayed due to operational commitments of JAY, HOLT, and HASTINGS. Comm office space completed. Comm office work area completed. Estimated time of relocation: 7 working days with all hands available for work. Relocation of storage spaces is dependent upon the setup of operational comm and crypto bunker. At present, comm and crypto bunker is 90% complete inside and 80% complete outside. Communications personnel were re-distributed throughout the battalion to effect a more even rotation percentage of battery personnel. Antenna siting and erection was delayed due to operational commitments.
3. Lessons Learned. CP communications installation should be made of locally procured material so as to free organic equipment for deployment and operations etc.

7. Intelligence.

a. Intelligence indicated that the 812th VC Main Force Battalion was operating in the vicinity of YD 5543.

b. The area of operations was a very heavily populated and built up area in the north. The many houses, hedge rows, and tree lines gave a definite advantage to the enemy. The southern three quarters of the area was sparsely populated with occasional rice paddies. The entire area was flat affording no one any advantage for observation.

8. Mission. The 3d Battalion, 12th Marines provided direct support to the 2d Battalion, 4th Marines and the 1st Battalion, 2d Marines. Reinforcing fires were to be provided to elements of the 1st ARVN Division.

9. Concept of Operations. The concept of operations was to block with units of the 1st ARVN Division on the north; block with the 2d Battalion, 1st Marines on the east after a helo insertion; and sweep to the east after inserting the 2ndBr, 4th Marines on the west. The wide open terrain to the south precluded enemy escape in that direction.

10. Execution

a. Survey. A battalion survey control point was map inspected from an easily identifiable point. Directional control was taken from an astronomic observation of the sun. Utilizing this control the batteries were tied to a common grid.

b. 155mm Howitzer (SP). This operation provided Battery "M", 4th Battalion, 12th Marines the first opportunity for the deployment of the 155 howitzer (SP) M109 as a battery (5 M109's were deployed) on a battalion-sized operation or larger.

c. GFT Settings. No registrations were conducted during the operation. In order to determine GFT settings for both batteries experience VE's and metro were applied which provided very satisfactory accuracy.

d. Artillery Thrust Lines. Two artillery thrust lines were established. They were used by forward observers for the purpose of position reporting.

e. VC Ambush. On the 29th of June the battalion was unexpectedly called upon to fire in support of an ARVN Marine Battalion who was caught in an ambush by the 802d VC Main Force Battalion. The battalion was moving by truck from Hue to Dong Ha when it was ambushed in the vicinity of YD 4738. Utilizing aerial observers immediate artillery fire was brought to bear on the VC ambushing force.

f. Fire Support Coordination. During periods when targets were the most abundant excessive cease fires were imposed jeopardizing the ability of the artillery to render effective fire support.

11. Results. Due to the lack of surveillance by artillery observers only 18 KIA (confirmed) and 20 KIA (probable) were credited to artillery during Operation JAY and the VC ambush.

12. Administrative Matters

a. Supply. The LSA was established in the immediate vicinity of the battalion and all classes of supply were drawn through supply point distribution. No difficulties were experienced obtaining any classes of supply.

b. Transportation. Organic transportation was employed to move the battalion (-) to the area of operations. The only problem encountered was the difficulty encountered by the 155mm howitzer (SP) crossing the narrow Song Bo River bridge. After slight damage was done to the bridge a fordable area in the river was found where the 155mm howitzers (SP) could cross.

c. Maintenance. The 155mm howitzer (SP) had its normal failures of the automatic breech assembly; however, by fabrication of parts a minimum down time was achieved.

d. Communications. To support this operation two conduct of fire nets were established, one with each infantry battalion. Communications to the 2d Battalion, 1st Marines artillery liaison officer was marginal until a radio set AN/PRC-25 was provided.

13. Special Equipment and Techniques. None.

14. Commanders Analysis. As a general rule there was a lack of coordination between air and other supporting arms. On a number of occasions numerous targets were left unattacked by artillery, naval gunfire, and mortars in order to attack a single target by air. Helicopters resupply and medical evacuations in the objective areas caused excessive delay in attacking targets when, with a little coordination, all activities could have been accomplished more expeditiously.

When air came on station there was seldom any consideration given to other supporting arms, but rather a requirement to cease fire on all supporting arms ordered. One exception to this was an occasion when the artillery battalion S-3 was able to persuade the Tactical Air Controller Airborne to allow the artillery battalion to complete its fire for effect on a target of opportunity before bringing in an air strike on another target.

Also excessive cease fires on artillery missions were generated by routine helicopter flights moving on the gun-target line. This was due to the fact that the LSA was located behind the artillery battalion position and a straight flight to the battalion operating areas carried helicopters down the gun-target line.

This lack of coordination points up the very definite requirement for a fire support coordinator who actually coordinates each of the supporting arms. This authority must be vested in one individual whether he be CO, S-3, artillery officer, or air officer. Once this individual is designated the fire support coordinator it is mandatory at all control of supporting arms funnel through him for coordination.

15. Recommendations

a. That the present automatic breech mechanism currently used on the 155mm howitzer (SP) be replaced and a manual system similar to that used on the 155mm howitzer (towed) be developed for installation on this weapon system.

b. That units dealing in fire support coordination insure that all fire support is being funneled through one central agency which has an intimate knowledge of the tactical situation and can properly coordinate.

9 July 1966DAILY CHRONOLOGY OF EVENTS24 June

At 1230H the Battalion CO and S-3 attended a planning conference concerning Operation JAY at the 4th Marines briefing room. Immediately following the briefing the S-3 joined a small recon party from the 4th Marine Regiment and at about 1430H reconned the area in the vicinity of YD 5334 for the artillery battalion position area.

Upon return from the recon trip the Battalion S-3 conducted a briefing for the battalion staff officers and battery commanders at 1600H. The rest of the evening was spent preparing for an early morning move to the objective area.

25 June

All 0400H the battalion (-) departed the Phu Bai area as one march unit for Operation JAY. The order of march was Battery "M", Hq Battery, and Battery "G". The march unit was led by the Battalion Commander. The battalion arrived in its position area at approximately 0700H and was laid and ready to fire by 0725H.

At 1320H the FO with Company F, 2d Battalion, 4th Marines called a fire mission on VC snipers in a tree line in the vicinity of YD 568435. Battery "G" expended 16 rounds of HE and 64 rounds of WP on the target. Battery "M" expended 35 rounds of WP. The FO reported excellent effect on target, but unable to observe any casualties. The large numbers of WP rounds were used to screen the retrieving of one Marine KIA.

At 1430H Battery "G" expended 4 rounds of WP to screen a helo that had been shot down. Also 9 rounds of HE were expended on VC who had surrounded the chopper.

At 1715H ARVN reported two companies of VC at YD 498394. Battery "M" fired 15 rounds of HE unobserved at this location.

At 1905H the artillery liaison officer with the 2d Battalion, 4th Marines fired 3 rounds from Battery "M" on a VC mortar firing from the woodline. Mortars ceased firing.

At 2135H Battery "M" expended 25 rounds of HE at a VC fortified village located at YD 570428. The mission was was unobserved. At 2255H Battery "M" fired 1 round of WP and 12 rounds of HE on VC located at YD 571 428 in a tree line. Observer reported excellent effect on target. During the night a heavy volume of H&I missions were fired in an attempt to seal off certain areas to VC escape.

26 June

At 1230H while firing on VC snipers in a tree line the observer made a correction which caused two rounds of 105mm howitzer ammunition to land in a company CP killing one Marine and wounding three others. One of these Marines later died of wounds. The correction was made by the observer not knowing the location of the adjacent company.

27 June

At 1720H an aerial observer spotted numerous sunken boats camouflaged along the water's edge at YD 532464. Battery "M" fired 49 rounds of HE destroying twelve boats. During the night ARVN reported five cases of snipers in the vicinity of YD 4830 and in each case unobserved fire was brought to bear on the snipers.

At 1800H intelligence was received indicating that the 814th VC Main Force Battalion had moved into two villages to the northwest of the operating area. Since this area was out of range of the artillery and plans were being made to deploy a force to attack this new target it was necessary to recon for a new position area. At 1815H the Battalion Commander, S-3, both battery commanders, and a security party set out to recon position areas to the north. Due to two bridges being out it was determined that no position areas would be satisfactory to the north. It was determined that a position area recon would be conducted at first light the following morning to look for areas to the northwest off of Route 1.

UNCLASSIFIED

28 June

A recon party, consisting of the same personnel as went on recon the 27th of June, left the CP to recon position areas to the northwest. Satisfactory position areas were found to support infantry operations to the northwest. Upon returning to the CP it was learned from the 4th Marines that the intelligence did not definitely fix the 814th Main Force Battalion in the area and that no operations were to be planned.

9 July 1966

At about 2015H intelligence was warned of a large VC force moving toward the 4th Marines CP from the south. Based on the intelligence a very heavy volume of H&I fires were executed.

29 June

All preparations were made for securing from Operation JAY and all non essential vehicles were staged by 0800H in anticipation of returning to Phu Bai. At approximately 0836H the sounds of automatic small arms and mortars firing were heard at the CP. Two large columns of smoke were observed in the air. The Battalion S-3 immediately ordered action rear on all weapons of the battalion in anticipation of some fire missions. A radio was immediately brought up on the ARVN advisor net where it was determined that an ARVN convoy was being ambushed and in serious trouble. The Battalion S-3 broke into the net and volunteered the services of the battalion. Within a few minutes an ARVN advisor called in a fire mission on what was described as many VC in a draw. The mission was later taken over by an aerial observer. Before the ambush was over seven missions had been fired expending 230 rounds of 105mm howitzer HE and 122 rounds of 155mm howitzer HE. After 1050H no more artillery missions were fired as there was sufficient air support now on hand. Due to this ambush of the ARVN convoy Operation JAY was extended 24 hours.

30 June

Very little activity occurred during the day. Only one mission of any significance was fired. At 2300H the forward observer called a fire mission on VC mortars and sniper fire. Battery "G" fired 6 rounds of HE causing the firing to cease.

1 July

The battalion was staged and moved out for Phu Bai at 0915H. Movement home was uneventful and all vehicles had arrived in Phu Bai by 1215H.

2. Name of Operation. HOLT.

3. Inclusive Dates of the Operation. 2-6Jul66.

4. Location. Operation HOLT was conducted in an area south of Co Bi Thanh Tan. The area was generally defined as being bounded on the north by northing grid line YD 23, on the east by easting grid line YD 63, on the south by northing grid line YD 16, and on the west by easting grid line YD 53. The area consisted of primary jungle with a canopy approximately 60 feet high. Jungle was sufficiently thick as to slow forward movement to 200 - 300 meters per hour. The main artery of communications through the area was the Song Bo River which served as a boundary between Marine and ARVN forces.

7. Intelligence. Intelligence, primarily from prisoner reports on Operation JAY, indicated that the objective area encompassed the operating base for the 802d VC Main Force Battalion and possibly the 806th VC Main Force Battalion.

8. Mission. The 3d Battalion, 12th Marines provided direct support to the 3d Bn, 4th Marines and reinforcing fires to the 3d ARVN Regiment, 1st ARVN Division.

9. Concept of Operations. To accomplish the mission of searching and destroying in the objective area, the ARVN 3d Regiment, 1st Division made a ground sweep moving from north to south on the eastern side of the Song Bo River. The 3d Battalion, 4th Marines was helo-lifted into the southern portion of the objective area to the west of the Song Bo River at which time they commenced a sweep to the north.

10. Execution

a. Fire Planning. Prior to the helicopters' landing in the LZ's, a 30 minute artillery preparation, followed by a 30 minute air preparation, was executed.

Fire planning during the operation was continuous by forward observers. Concentrations were cancelled promptly when no longer of any use. Numerous concentrations were shot in to insure more accurate pre-planned data.

b. Registrations. Initial GFT settings were derived from Experience VE's plus met. Shortly after the operation commenced, an AO was available and precision registrations were conducted by both batteries.

c. Thrust Lines. One artillery thrust line was used by both artillery and infantry units for purposes of position reporting.

d. Observation Post. The battalion established an observation post on Hill 285 (YD 629223) for purposes of providing additional observation in the northern part of the operating area. Only on one occasion was any intelligence received from this observation post.

11. Results. Very little contact was made with the enemy and consequently only two missions were adjusted onto sighted VC. These two missions accounted for 2 VC KIA (confirmed) and 7 VC KIA (probable).

12. Administrative Matters

a. Supply. Both batteries carried a minimum of 3 DOA into the objective area. The LSA was established in the immediate vicinity of the battalion and no supply problems developed.

b. Maintenance. During the operation piece number 5 from Battery I lost portions of thirteen lands and the last day of the operation the weapon was deadlined except for emergency use.

c. Transportation and Convoy Movement. Organic transportation was used by all units of the battalion. Three serials were formed and integrated into one battalion march unit. Battery "I" composed the first serial, Battalion Headquarters, the second serial, and Battery "M" the third serial. The convoy was controlled internally on the Battalion Command Net. Movement to the objective area was executed in a very smooth manner. The battalion left Phu Bai at 0400H. After passing through the city of Hue the battalion preceded under black out conditions to the position area.

d. Communications. With only one infantry battalion operating in the objective area only one conduct of fire net was activated. The Battalion Command Net was guarded throughout the operation in order to maintain communications with the battalion rear and Battery "G" which remained in the Operation JAY area until 2 July.

In anticipation of difficulty in communicating with the infantry battalion, artillery LNO, and FO's, a communications relay site was established on Hill 285 (YD 629223). This relay proved to be quite valuable during periods of weak communications to the infantry battalion.

13. Special Equipment and Techniques. None.

DAILY SUMMARY OF EVENTS

1 July

The Battalion CO and S-3 attended a briefing at the 4th Marines CP at 1900H which covered the details of Operation HOLT. Immediately following the 4th Marines briefing, the S-3 held a briefing for all staff officers and battery commanders.

2 July

The battalion departed Phu Bai for Operation HOLT at 0400H. The battalion march unit was led by the Battalion Commander. The march order was Battery "I", Headquarters Battery, and Battery "M". After going through Hue, the battalion continued to its position area (YD 634251) under black out conditions. Twelve minutes after arrival the battalion was laid and ready to fire.

At 0730H the battalion commenced a 30 minute artillery preparation of the helicopter landing zones.

At 1210H both batteries registered on a map inspected registration point.

At 1240H Battery "M" fired 15 rounds of HE at 8 VC in the open at YD 517178. One VC was KIA (BC) and 2 KIA (possible). Recon elements screening the south west portion of the operations area fired this mission.

At 2010H Battery "I" fired 56 rounds of HE at 6 VC in three boats moving down the Song Bo River. Surveillance was 1 VC KIA (BC), 5 VC KIA (possible) with three boats destroyed.

3 July

At 1100H 4th Marines reported that red haze emissions had indicated a possible VC observation post at YD 515218 and YD 543214. Using direct observation with a BC scope from the artillery battalion FDC the Battalion CO and S-3 adjusted 22 rounds of WP and 3 rounds of HE from Battery "M" on suspected OP's. The effect was good in the target area, but no further surveillance was available.

4 July

Very little activity occurred during the day. At 1200H and again at 2000H a 4th of July "fireworks" display was put on by Batteries I and M. Combinations of illumination, smoke, WP fuzed with time fuze, and HEPT rounds were used to obtain a simple celebration.

5 July

At 1145H an aerial observer fired 28 rounds of WP from Battery I on a suspected VC Company. Rounds were reported to be on target.

At the direction of the CO, 4th Marines two WP missions were commenced in an attempt to start fires at YD 557221 and YD 560225. The attempt was unsuccessful.

At 2040H the forward observer from K Company, 3d Battalion, 4th Marines adjusted Battery I onto an area by the Song Bo River (YD 608230) where there was reported enemy movement. Sixteen rounds of HE were adjusted when one ARVN soldier on the eastern side of the Song Bo River was superficially wounded. The mission was ended at that time.

6 July

At 1410H the battalion headquarters and Battery M closed stations and march ordered to Phu Bai. Battery I remained in position to cover the withdrawal of the remaining elements of the 3rd Battalion, 4th Marines from the objective area. At 1530H as the last elements of the 3rd Battalion, 4th Marines were lifted out of their LZ's. Battery I fired 5 missions expending 90 rounds of HE shortly after the last helos had departed on the old CP sites. This tactic was employed since the VC have set up a pattern of entering CP sites to look for discarded gear shortly after the retraction of a unit.

At 1600H Battery I departed the Operation HOLT area and made an uneventful trip back to the Phu Bai area.
